Her years of experience, her knowledge of the area and her marketing talents contributed to our decision to have her list and sell our home. Our confidence and trust was well placed! Our home is sold! I would not hesitate to recommend Janyne to anyone who is in need of a Realtor!”

A CHARMED

History

To those wishing for more than a casual glance, welcome to historic Indian River County. Immerse yourself in a place where history meets natural beauty - where charming towns, lush parks, and pristine beaches offer the perfect escape. With year-round sunshine and a laid-back, nature-inspired vibe, there's something special around every corner.

HISTORIC INDIAN RIVER COUNTY

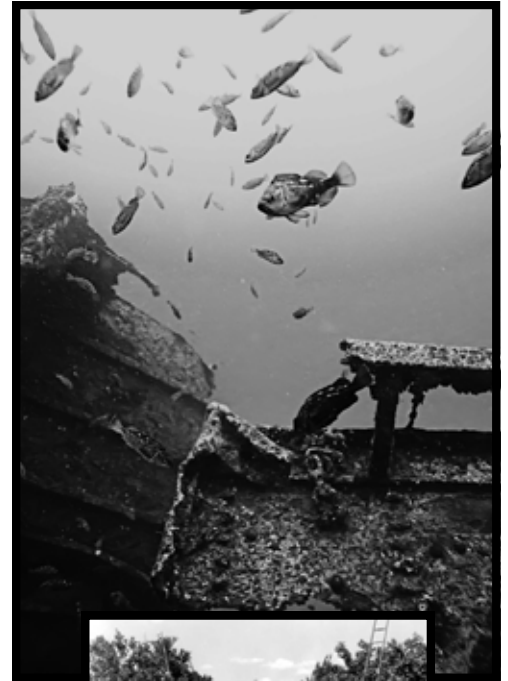

Indian River County, part of Florida's famed Treasure Coast, is renowned for its rich history of shipwrecks and sunken treasures. In 1715, a Spanish fleet carrying gold, silver, and precious artifacts sank off the coast during a hurricane, scattering treasure along the shore. Over the centuries, treasure hunters have sought these riches, with the legendary Mel Fisher making a groundbreaking discovery in the 1980s. Fisher's team located the wreck of the Atocha, a Spanish galleon lost in 1622, recovering billions of dollars worth of treasure. Today, Indian River County remains a symbol of Florida's maritime history and the thrilling pursuit of hidden treasure.

In the early 20th century, Indian River County became synonymous with the booming citrus industry, particularly its world-renowned oranges and grapefruits. The area's fertile land, along with the arrival of the Florida East Coast Railway, helped the region flourish as one of the most important agricultural hubs in Florida.

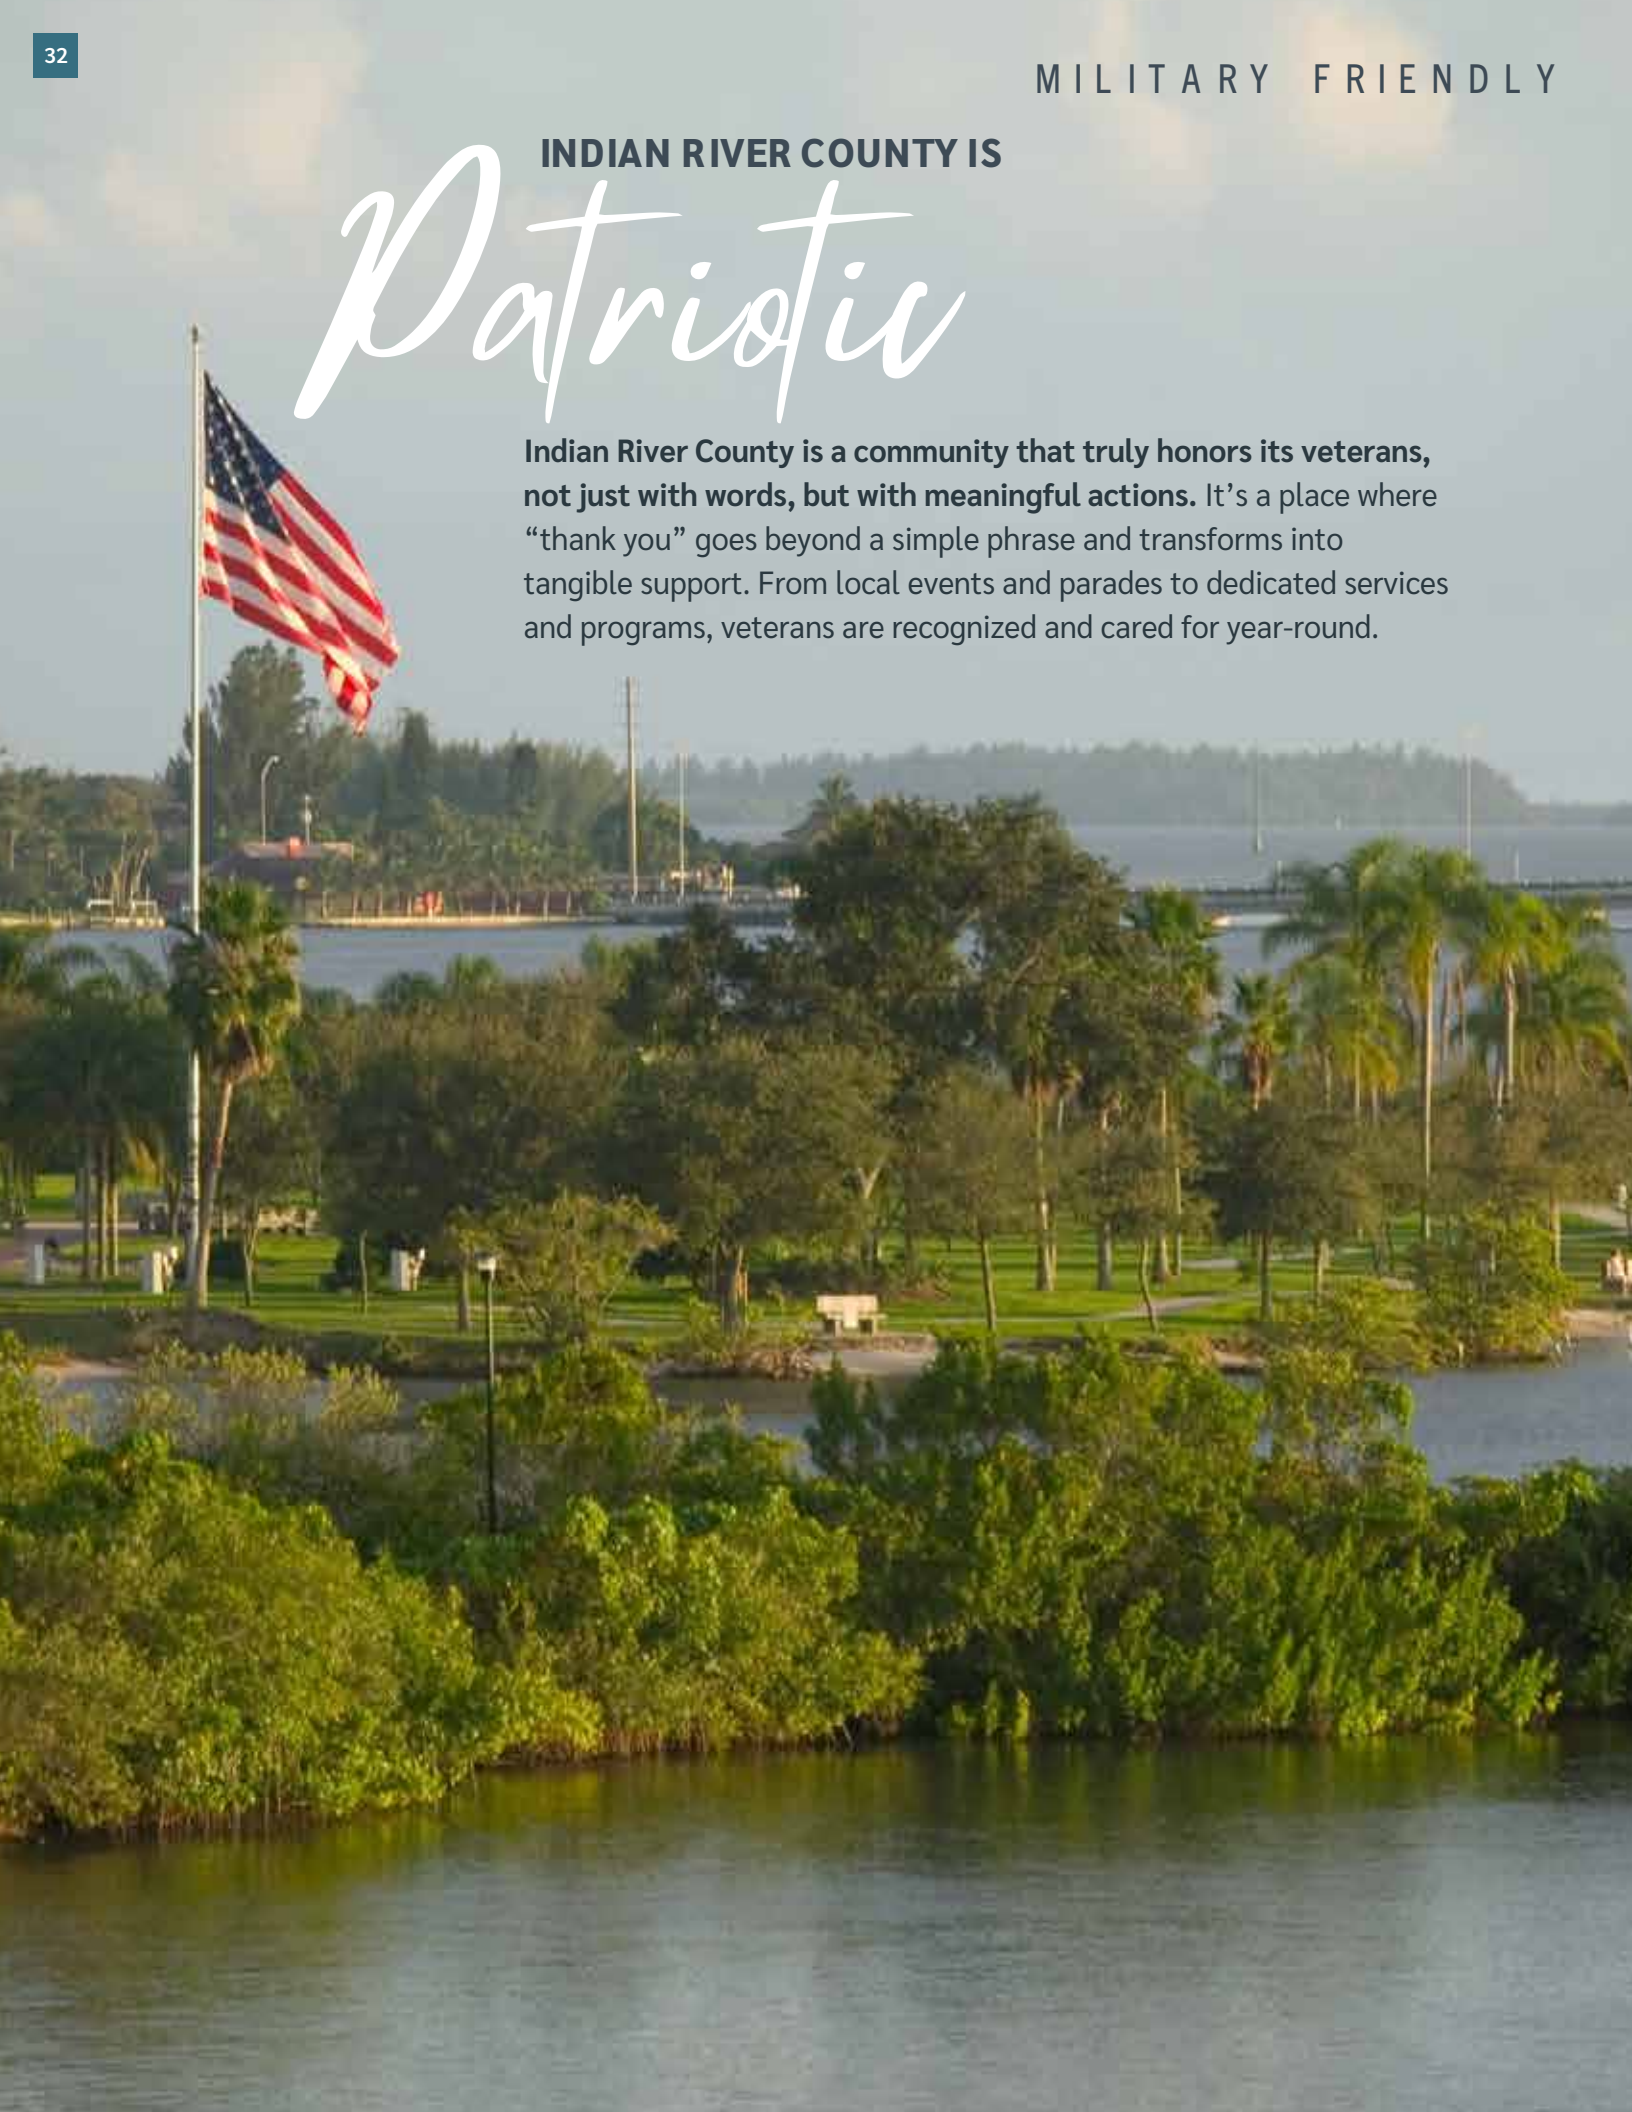

Perhaps most notably, Indian River County played a pivotal role in the Civil Rights Movement. In 1946, Jackie Robinson trained at Dodgertown Stadium in Vero Beach, breaking racial barriers in professional baseball. His time here marked a historic chapter in history for both the county and the greater nation.

Today, the county's rich legacy endures, with historic landmarks, a thriving arts scene, and natural beauty that continues to draw visitors and residents alike. From its Native American roots to its citrus heritage and ties to sports history, Indian River County remains a testament to Florida's diverse and ever-evolving story.

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY IS Patriotic

Indian River County is a community that truly honors its veterans, not just with words, but with meaningful actions. It's a place where "thank you" goes beyond a simple phrase and transforms into tangible support. From local events and parades to dedicated services and programs, veterans are recognized and cared for year-round.

Veterans Memorial Island Sanctuary

Veterans Memorial Island Sanctuary in Vero Beach was dedicated on Veterans Day in 1990 as a peaceful, permanent tribute to U.S. military veterans. The island, located in the Indian River Lagoon, features monuments and memorials honoring the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard, as well as plaques for various wars. Developed with the support of local veterans and the community, the sanctuary offers a serene space for reflection and remembrance, hosting annual ceremonies on Veterans Day and Memorial Day. It stands as a lasting testament to the sacrifices and service of those who have served in the armed forces.

Veterans Council of IRC

The mission of the Veterans Council of Indian River County is to serve the local veteran community by advocating for veterans' rights and benefits, providing resources to help them access services like healthcare, housing, and financial support, and organizing events and ceremonies to honor their service, especially on important occasions such as Veterans Day and Memorial Day.

Educational Success

Vero Beach High School and Sebastian River High School offer JROTC (Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps) programs that provide students the opportunity to develop leadership, discipline, and teamwork skills while gaining an understanding of military values and principles.

“Indian River County is an extraordinary place to live. One of the great aspects of living in this community is its relentless support of our Veteran community. We don’t just speak about patriotism; we live and breathe it. We remember all veterans who gave their future for ours.”
Jeff Palleschi, Owner- 21st Amendment Distillery

THE HOLIDAYS

There's nothing like experiencing the season of the holidays in beautiful Pocahtonas Park in Vero Beach.

The annual tree lighting is not to be missed. Enjoy a day filled with local shopping, tasty food, live music, a visit from Santa and the magical lighting of the tree.

“Participating as Mayor in the lighting of the Christmas tree is a heartwarming experience that brings our community together in joy and celebration. Seeing the faces of happy children and families light up with wonder adds a special significance, reminding us of the magic, hope, and holiday spirit that make this season so special.”

John E. Cotugno, Mayor- City of Vero Beach, FL

On behalf of our amazing community, the Chamber would like to thank the City of Vero Beach for the beautiful tree.

About the Cover

Meet Artist Roy McLendon, Jr.

We sat down with Roy in his Vero Beach studio for a one-on-one interview to find out more about him, his art, legacy and influences. Here's what he shared.

Tell us about your legacy, and how it has influenced you as an artist.

"My father was the second of the original Highwaymen, right behind Harold Newton. My approach to painting, however, isn't directly influenced by his Legacy. Before there was a legacy to speak of, I was already painting. I approach my work in much the same way he did—not because he taught me, but because I quietly observed him as he painted. Like my father, themes in my art center around nature, life, and hard work."

How has art changed since the time of the first highwaymen?

"There are so many tools available to artists today that didn't exist back then. New opportunities, new ways to market yourself. But at its core, selling art is still about connecting directly with the customer. Artists take advantage of festivals and events. There are galleries that carry Highwaymen paintings and some of us have ventured to open galleries of our own."

Tell us about your creative process.

"Ninety percent of the time, I start a painting from the sky and work my way down. I first decide whether a day scene, or a night scene? Landscape or Seascape? What are the colors? My favorite part of any painting is adding the details—that's where the magic happens."

What have been some of your artistic challenges?

"One of my biggest challenges is staying true to who I am, where I started, and how I deserve to be recognized. People often label me as a second-generation Highwayman, but that doesn't tell the whole story. I am the only child of any Highwayman artist who meets the criteria of an Original Highwayman. I started painting on Upson board and used Crown molding for framing, just like the originals. In truth, I'm both an Original Highwayman and a second-generation artist. My son, Mish, carries this tradition forward as a second-generation Highwayman but a third-generation artist."

What else do you want to share about your work and paintings?

"In the end, it's not about how many paintings I create, but the connection each one makes with the viewer. My hope is that people will see my work and feel something real—a memory, a sense of peace, or a reflection of life as it once was and still is."
